

Sydney Metro is a new world-class railway for Sydney. The $8.3 billion Sydney Metro Northwest is the first stage of Sydney Metro – Australia's biggest public transport project.

Services start on 26 May 2019 on Australia's first fully-automated railway, with 13 metro stations and 4000 new commuter car parking spaces.

Sydney's fast, safe and reliable metro trains are fully-air conditioned with new customer benefits like multi-purpose spaces for luggage and parents with prams, as well as wheelchair spaces and priority seating in each carriage.

At Castle Hill Station interchange, work will be undertaken to provide real time passenger information display at three bus stops.

The two bus stops on Old Northern Road will be worked on on Tuesday 21 and Wednesday 22 May between 10am and 3pm. Works on Old Castle Hill Road will be carried out on Monday 20 May, between 8pm and 5am. In the event of poor weather, the night works may need to be held over until the following evening.

Works will involve:

- Minor excavation and construction of concrete post footings
- Installation of posts with bus stop signs and solar powered, real time passenger information displays

The work will generate low levels of noise for about half an hour per hole, from truck operations including engines and non-tonal reversing alarms or 'quackers'.

Hours of work

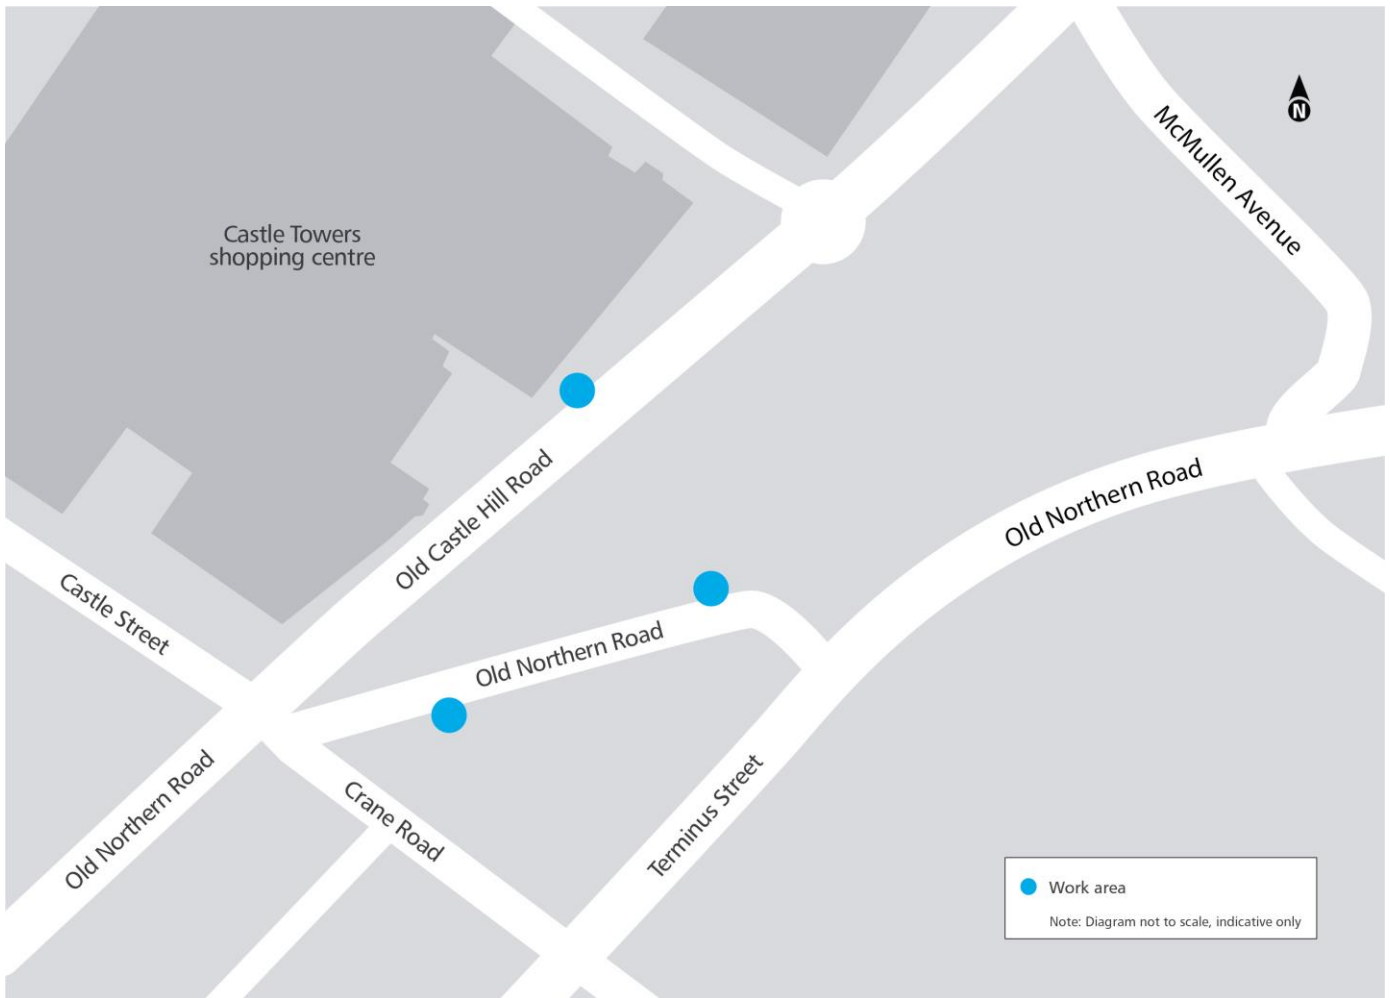

Due to high daytime traffic and pedestrian volumes and the need to ensure pedestrian and worker safety, the works on Old Castle Hill Road will be completed outside of standard construction hours.

Noisier tasks will be carried out before midnight and as early as possible, wherever possible.

What to expect

- Traffic control, pedestrian management and directional signage will be in place for the safety of workers and the community.
- Buses will continue to operate from or near the existing bus stop. Staff will assist bus customers.
- Access to buildings and driveways will be maintained at all times.

Thank you for your cooperation while we complete these essential works.
