

Loading Zone Notification

July 2023

Sydney Metro is Australia's biggest public transport project.

Services started in May 2019 in the city's North West with a train every four minutes in the peak. Metro rail will be extended into the CBD and beyond to Bankstown, with new CBD metro railway stations at Martin Place, Pitt Street and Barangaroo and new metro platforms at Central. By 2030, Sydney will have a network of four metro lines, 46 stations, and 113km of new metro rail.

The new Waterloo integrated station development includes construction of the new Waterloo metro station by John Holland, while a joint venture between John Holland and Mirvac will deliver the Waterloo Metro Quarter, including buildings above and next to the station.

Waterloo over station development construction loading zones

Construction loading zones will be implemented in March will remain until early 2025 to aid with construction activities. The construction loading zones will include:

- Single lane on the northern end of Wellington Street (between Botany Road and Cope Street)
- Single lane on the southern end of Raglan Street (between Botany Road and Cope Street)
- Single lane on the eastern side of Botany Road (between Raglan Street and Wellington Street)

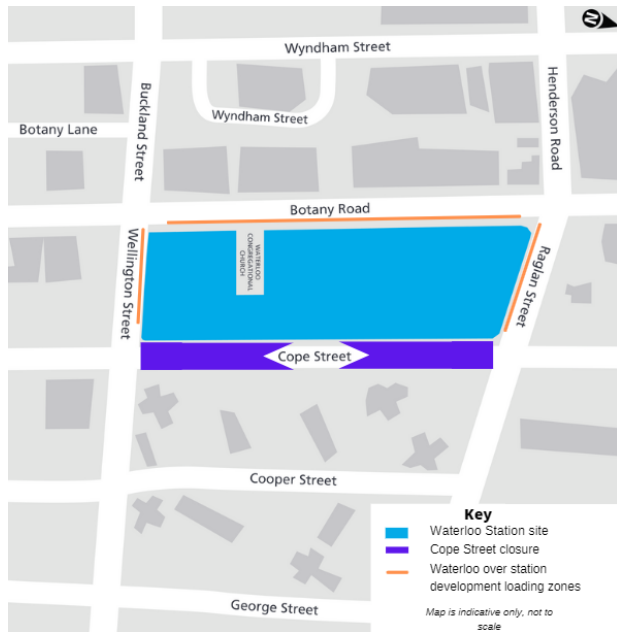

Raglan and Wellington Street loading zones will be in use during standard construction hours Monday to Friday 7am – 6pm. Load zones on Botany Road will only be in use Monday to Friday 10am-3pm.

These loading zone hours are indicative and are subject to change where high risk works on site are scheduled on Saturdays or outside of standard construction hours.

Contact us

If you have any questions about the Waterloo integrated station development or Waterloo Metro Quarter, please contact Savannah Hodge on 1800 171 386 or email waterloometro@transport.nsw.gov.au

Map of Waterloo over station development loading zones

Have your say

If you have any questions or would like more information please contact our project team:

1800 171 386 Community information line
open 24 hours

sydneymetro@transport.nsw.gov.au

Sydney Metro City & Southwest,
PO Box K659, Haymarket NSW 1240

Translating and interpreting service

If you need help understanding this information, please contact the Translating and Interpreting Service on 131 450 and ask them to call us on 1800 171 386